How could AHS follow up the success of Fiddler On the Roof? Why, produce a huge dance show, of course. Under the direction of Miss Alice Mott, No, No, Nanette was the biggest dance show attempted by any group in Adrian, and AHS students proved they could hoof it with the best of them.

Top dance honors went to seniors Carrie Samson, who danced the lead role of Lucille, and Peggy Strohl, who pulled off a Ruby Keeler style tap role, and who also, along with the chorus, stopped the show every night with, "I Want To Be Happy."

Toni Birchfield and Steve Hokenson were excellent as the typical 1920's romantic couple. Pat Lanczki and Kirk Baily teamed up with Carrie and Peggy to pull off a classic song and dance team. Kirk came close to stealing the show with his comic rendition of millionaire Jimmy Smith, who just wanted everyone to "Be Happy." Jackie Smith, Lisa Kramer, Sheryl Campbell and Sally Hammerstein rounded out the principal list with some fine character portrayals.

However, as excellent as the principals were, it goes without saying that the chorus became the real stars as audiences were astounded by the parade of dance productions created by choreographer, Miss Kathy Williams.

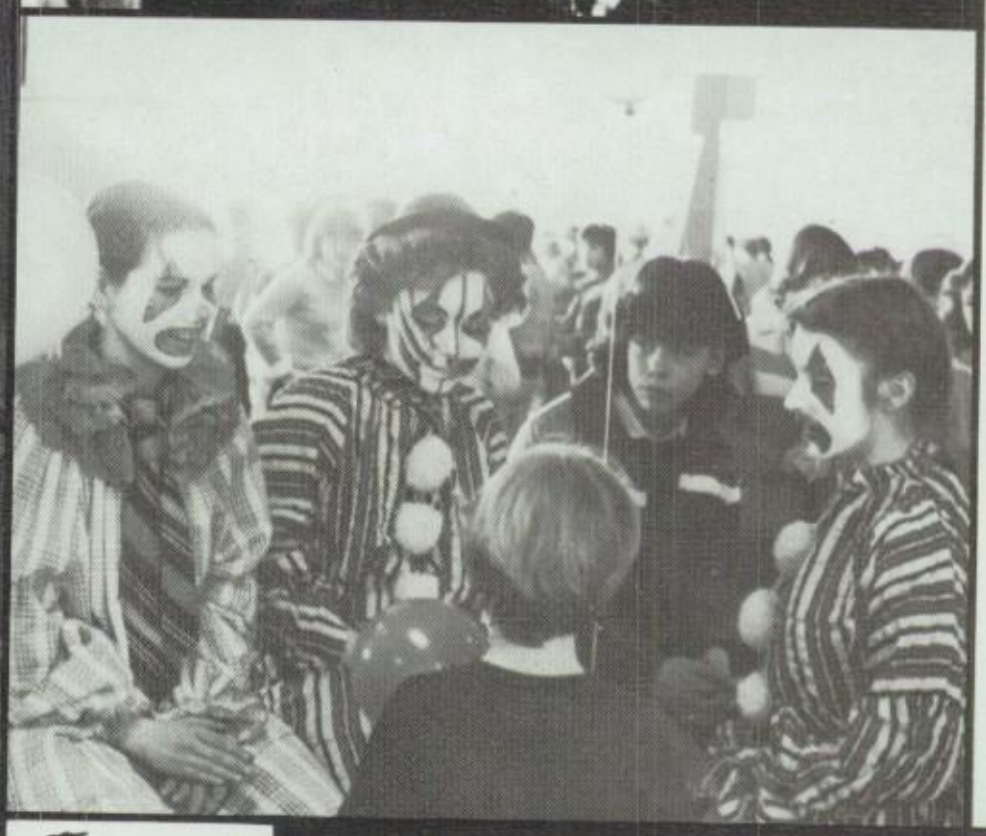
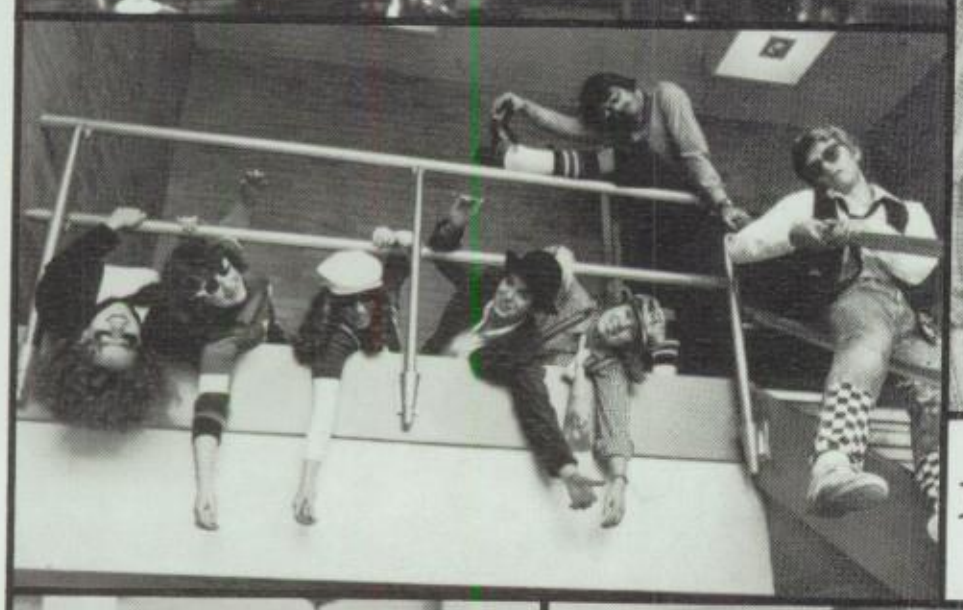
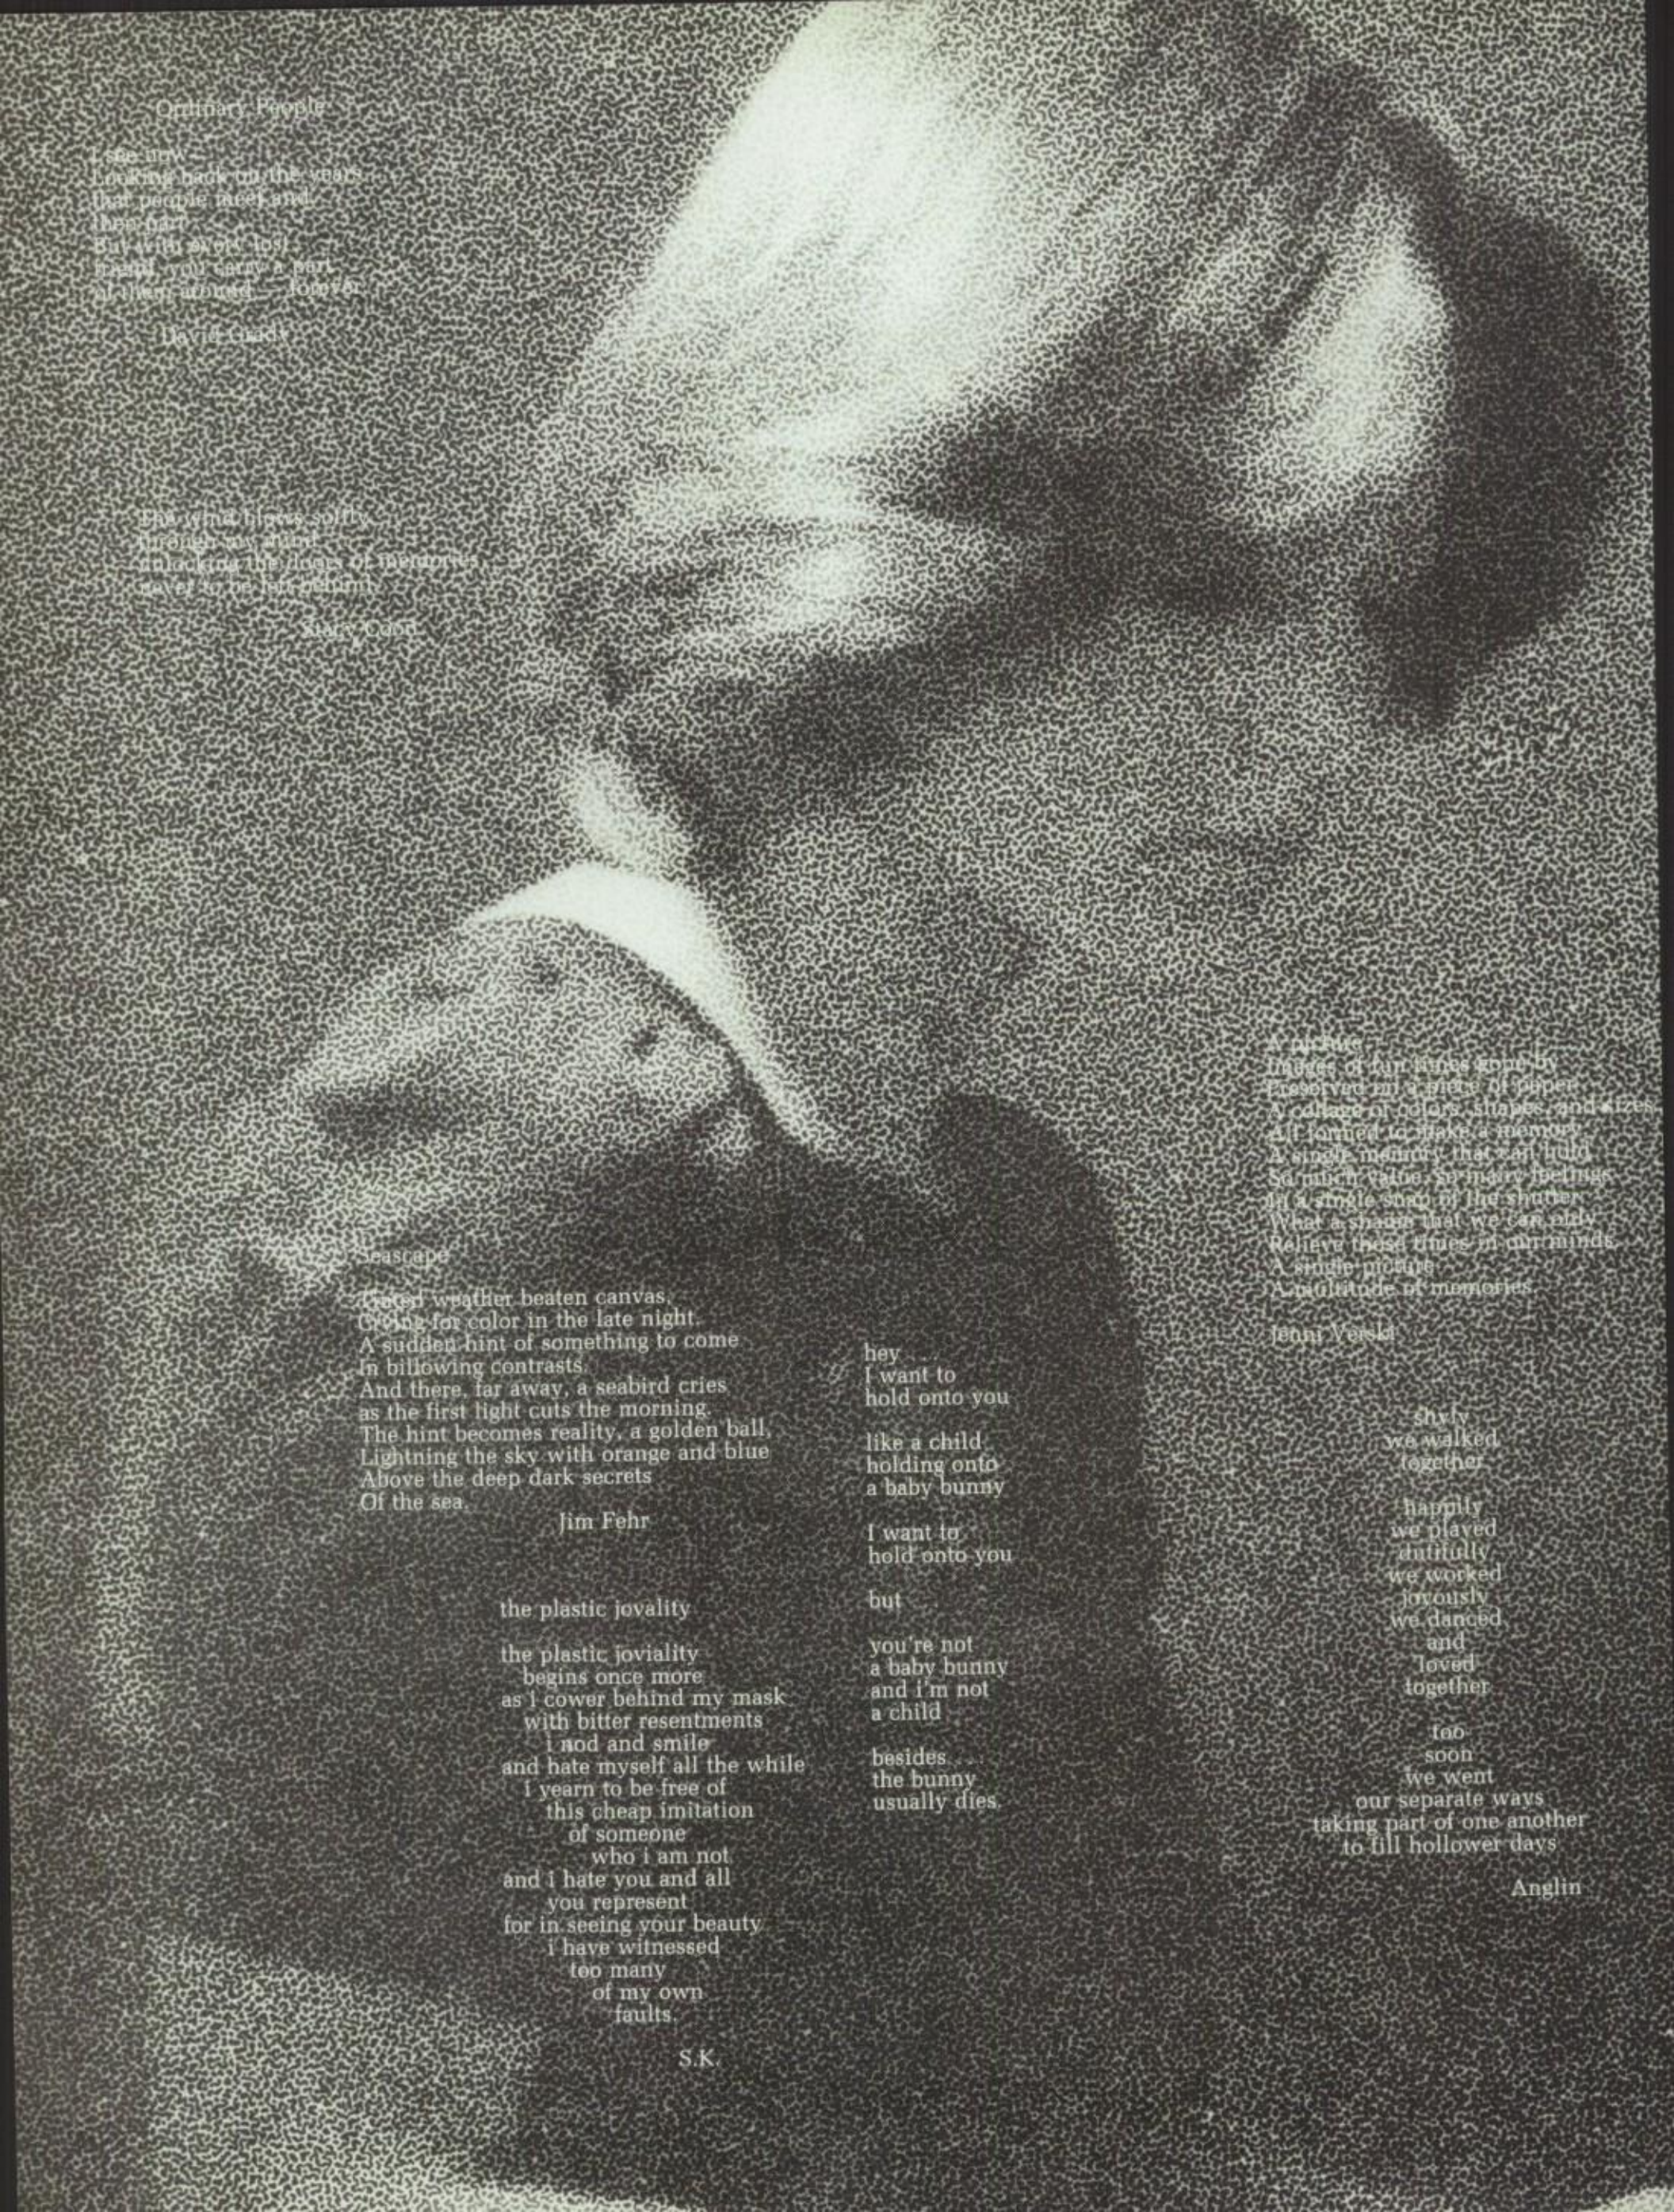
WINTER CARNIVAL "81"





AHS



Ordinary People

I see now
Looking back on the years That people meet and Then part
But with every loss
I must carry a part Of them around — forever.

David Gurdy

The wind blows softly Through new grass and Whispers of the times of memories Never to be relived again.

Mary Cobb

Seascape

Muted weather beaten canvas, Groping for color in the late night.
A sudden hint of something to come In billowing contrasts.
And there, far away, a seabird cries as the first light cuts the morning.
The hint becomes reality, a golden ball, Lightning the sky with orange and blue Above the deep dark secrets Of the sea.

Jim Fehr

the plastic jovality

the plastic joviality begins once more as i cower behind my mask with bitter resentments i nod and smile and hate myself all the while i yearn to be free of this cheap imitation of someone who i am not and i hate you and all you represent for in seeing your beauty i have witnessed too many of my own faults.

S.K.

I want to hold onto you like a child holding onto a baby bunny

hold onto you but you're not a baby bunny and i'm not a child besides the bunny usually dies.

Photo

Images of our lives, torn by Preservation, a piece of paper.
A collage of colors, shapes, and sizes.
All formed to make a memory.
A single memory that can't hold So much value, so many feelings In a single snap of the shutter.
What a shame that we can only Relive these times in our minds.
A single picture
A multitude of memories.

Jenni Verska

shyly we walked together

happily we played dutifully we worked joyously we danced and loved

too soon we went our separate ways taking part of one another to fill hollower days

Anglin

Frustration

How can I say if you are right, or wrong
When I do not even know, myself.

Why must everyone else past judgement, over me,
and no one else?

The Last Year

Tension's really tight.
Try, try, with all my might.
Being scared of grades.
Look to see, have it made.
More friends, that's my goal.
School's class "A" super bowl.
Four years over today.
Last year of May.
Old friends in my past.
Memories last.
Standing solid ground.
Gone college bound.

Nina Graham

Carry On

My life, a book with missing pages
And endless dream gone through the ages As I live on through phase, through craze I find no end to this life's maze I need no sorrow feel no shame and pay no heed it's now a game But I'll carry on confined for now and find tomorrow somehow.

Dana Morris

One spring morning, she plants the seeds carefully planning each row.

Summer afternoons
she pulls the weeds, coaxing the plants to grow.

By fall evening her finger bleeds with oh, so much to sow.

On winter nights she silently reads lighted by the fire's glow.

Mother of mine of many harsh deeds your little boy has grown.

And now I leave with no more needs and you with only coarse hands to show.

Jim Frederick

Dad was never an athlete, he never played football in high school he tells me instead of chores on early mornings and of the farm, and the people he's lived with.

Our lives have been so much alike, yet mine so different because of him.

I've followed him since I was six handing nails, holding boards, getting beers.
I followed him as he rebuilt a house and a family.

I grew and now I work beside him and can begin to understand the things he's tried to teach me about pride and love and patience and never giving up or feeling sorry for myself.
And living life the way I want to live.

Keith Johnson

NATURES TOUCH

Sitting, centered, on a water smoothed rock A streaming river trickles by Content in reflection, I'm mirrored upon Unattached, with peacefulness courting Abandoned, yet secure in thought Sunlight beams streak the rippled surface Soft breeze flicker the autumn leaves While cooling my mind in happiness.

Kirk Baily

This tear is a reflection, Of hurt, disappointment, pain and frustrations you've caused me.
This tear is for you As a signal of needed tenderness.
A simple way of saying,
"I need you."

Joanna Harke

CYCLES

Sparks flew up against the sky,
Daylight lit the night,
Trees toppled,
Bushes burned,
Animals ran,
And men worked.

With picks and shovels, Helicopters and science,
They fought against nature,
Tired and weary,
Died.

Now no tress reach up to the sky,
The bushes are gone,
The animals dead,
And only a cold wind,
Blowing across the land,
Scatters dust around a tiny, green, seedling.

Sharon Hoag

The fire raged hotter with menacing flames As logs were added, small sparks turned to flames.
The night lingered on but the fire remains.
Little by little it slowly refrains
The logs become twigs the twigs become ashes,
And all the life of the fire soon passes
The life of a fire, it lives then it dies.
Can this really be living without any ties?

Pam Laughlin

Analogy of Love

Love is a bittersweet stain.
Ever widening, it colors our lives.
And if we can stand the pain,
We dare to hold the happiness.
When I recall the beauty of your smile,
It carries me through the longing.
And when I see you for a little while,
I realize the dream of a poet
At times when you're so far away, Thoughts of you creep cat-like through my mind,
And a minute passes slowly as a day
Like the sorrow of saying goodbye.

The International Thespian Society exists not only to honor outstanding high school theatre students, but also as a means of education, communication and shared experiences among theatre students of all countries. AHS troupe 3055 has grown steadily since it's rebirth in 1979, inducting on the average 5-10 new members every semester. Its members have been active not only in both Adrian productions, Done to Death, and South Pacific, but also in Siena Heights productions and Croswell Opera House productions.

This year's Senior class has provided the leadership and substance of this organizations since its inception and will be sorely missed when next year's season rolls around. To the Class of 81: Thank you for perhaps the finest on stage moments in the history of AHS.

I'LL NEVER FORGET THE TIME . . .

. . . We first saw Mr. Kerekes
. . . Marty and Crane poured a garbage can of water over the stall on Kirk
. . . a few jocks got busted at a party and couldn't play in the next 3 baseball games
. . . Mr. Carter fell off his chair while trying to pick up his pencil
. . . when Heffer took her puppy dog to Washington for comfort
. . . when Diane Vidalez was pinching guys behinds and accidently pinched a girl's
. . . we beat Ann Harbor Huron in the biggest swim meet of the season
. . . the majorettes did a fire routine at a football game with no fire
. . . Dave Grady broke a chair in Yearbook
. . . I fainted twice in the hall right outside of my First Aid class
. . . we sat in one of the bathroom stalls at the Capitol Building getting our picture taken
. . . when Alan Oprasal said the high school only taught him one thing — 2 bananas minus 1 banana equals one banana
. . . Mrs. Crawford fell off her chair in 5th hr. Lit. Comp. class
. . . when Mr. Boudreau put on Joe Stewarts "Zanny Zapper" sunglasses in Senior Math . . . dropping my tray as a freshman in the cafeteria
. . . Gordon's embarassing moment on stage
. . . while doing Superstar and all the great friends
. . . we read "My mother is a fish"
. . . Amy fell flat on her face at J. Geils and smashed her beer cans into her stomach
. . . Lance Weisman gave a speech in 1st hr. Lit. Comp. with his fly open
. . . in "Done to Death" — "Shes dead, all dead." "Shes bad, all bad". "Take that, take this, PLEASE take this."
. . . K.B. stuffed his shirt with 2 balloons, strutted around Big Boy and was approached by 2 guys . . . not registering for the draft
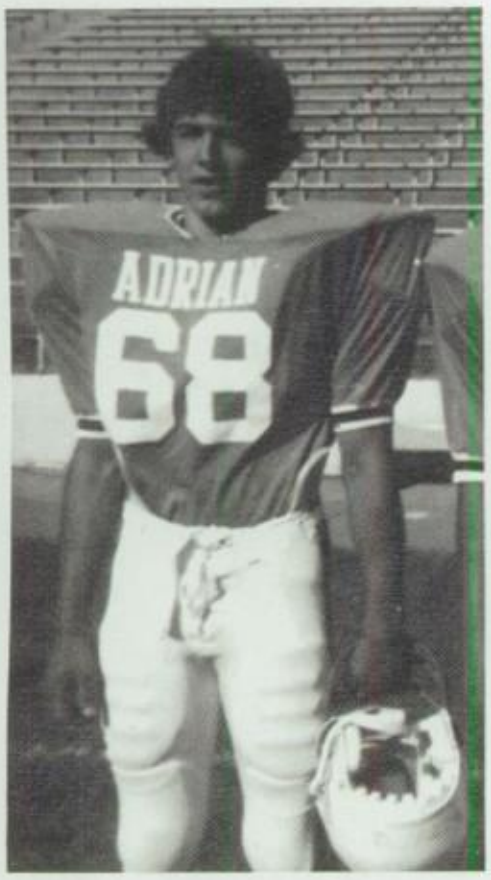
. . . we had to take exams our senior year
. . . when J.F. and D.K. fought over some orange juice and spilled it all over themselves in Lewis' class
. . . we pulled off our secret beer caper in Washington — Safeway
. . . spending 6 hours at the regional meet to run an 11 second race
. . . my freshman year when the band went one way and I went the other
. . . when A.E.'s dog relieved himself on Tom S.'s coat at Thespian initiation
. . . getting to have a Winter Carnival
. . . when we had to switch buses 3 times before we made it back to Adrian from Washington D.C.
. . . getting into the dances through the courtyard
. . . taking Mr. Pullen to an R rated movie
. . . being in Cross Country and learning what KNULLA and JAVLA FITA means
. . . seeing Alan R. in his underwear through the hotel window in Washington
. . . we won the spirit megaphone our senior year
. . . when Mr. McDaid got squirted in the face with a fire extinguisher
. . . D.C. dropped his towel in front of Mrs. Stafford in the hotel
. . . good parties and great friends at Adrian High School



IN VERY SPECIAL MEMORY TO: Steve Miller, Brenda Boomer, Kim Morin, Liana Langthorne, and Greg Rickard.

There is an open gate at the end of the path,
Through which each must pass alone;
There, in a light we cannot see, death claims his own;
Beyond the gate our loved ones find happiness and rest.
There is comfort in the thought that we know they did their best,
The delight brought to our hearts, whatever gift how small, Steve, Brenda, Kim, Greg, and Liana you are sadly missed by all.

Regina Brown and Nancy Brown

Carlos:
a guy whose really quiet. Sometimes I don't even know you're there. Besides I'm a big-mouthed, person anyway. We've sat through a lot of boring civics classes and stupid lectures about Tony. Of we get him for drivers ed. lets just hope he doesn't make us pull over while he gives up a ten minute lecture. I hope we can become better friends and maybe we'll get more classes together next year. Good luck!

Love,
Andrea
